Mill Components

Regardless of the type or size of mill you have, T&H Lemont can design and build the components you need with the features you want. Whether you're interested in a weldbox, a seam orientation stand, a straightener, or a Turkshead, for light-wall to heavy-wall applications, T&H Lemont can provide one with quick-change features to keep downtime to a minimum and conveniences to make the mill operator's life easier.

Tooling Stands

- Standard-duty and heavy-duty designs
- Flip-top style for fast changeovers
- Available as individual stands or as a rafted setup for even faster changeovers

Weldboxes

- Models include two- to five-roll designs for high-frequency induction mills and 6-roll designs for TIG mills
- Configurations for three-roll weldboxes include Y or inverted Y
- Quick-change faceplates allow tooling changeovers with minimal downtime

Seam Orientation Stands

- Return a wandering seam to top dead center, or move it to another location on the circumference
- Up to 60 degrees of deflection, depending on the application
- The basic unit has manual adjustment, which requires stopping the mill. The upgraded unit has a motorized adjustment, allowing changes on the fly

Straighteners

- Remove bow at the end of the production process
- Designs include two-roll, single-plane and four-roll, two-plane models
- Standard designs can be modified to fit any mill configuration

Turksheads

- Change the cross section from round to any shape
- Standard and heavy-duty Turksheads available
- Designs include two-roll, single-plane and four-roll, two-plane models
- Standard designs can be modified to fit any mill configuration
